

METAL FOAM INTERCONNECT

Abstract

A fuel cell interconnect comprises a gas barrier plate and at least one metal foam flow field attached to the barrier plate. The plate may be corrugated. The interconnect may have a metal foam flow field attached to both sides of the barrier plate.